

Dear Patient,

You have received this letter because you have used eConsult and have submitted a sensitive photo. It is very important you do not submit photos of intimate parts of the body, as the photos initially come to an administrative member of the team, and they are also stored on your medical record.

For the avoidance of doubt, photos of any area that is normally covered by underwear is considered an intimate / sensitive photo.

If the clinician needs to see the area in question, they will invite you for a face to face consultation.

Thank you for your co-operation.

Yours sincerely,

Jennie Dock
Practice Manager
